FAITH OF OUR MOTHERS AND FATHERS

Often out of chaos and brokenness, beautiful things emerge. As students head back to school, they will hear, once again, that study, hard work and practice--whether in class, sports or band--will give them great results and a foundation for a successful future. When we consider our Christian story, we are reminded of this sequence. The bloody, messy and painful crucifixion of Jesus led to resurrection and the reassurance of new life rising from a broken body and desolation. And our very existence lends credibility to this truth. Each of us came into this world following the pain of childbirth. Yet, throughout time, humans have experienced great joy and beauty in seeing babies enter our world.

Three years ago, none of us could have imagined that we would be in transition for several years. This global pandemic has shifted dramatically the entire way we do and be church. And yet the Spirit abides with us, and our community's strength, creativity and vision has stretched us to be St. Luke's in new and varied ways.

During the last sixteen months, we have witnessed in our world much fear, violence, division, brokenness, and grief. Here at St. Luke's, we have experienced our own pain and grief from the loss of so many in our congregation. As associate priests here, we have been acutely aware of the need to remind this parish of our faith that God will sustain us in times of trial and offer thoughtful, prayerful leadership in such a time of uncertainty.

This beginning of an era has led us to review our own history, outlined so beautifully in Susan Elizabeth Leas' Alive in Atlanta. She reminds us that St. Luke's had its birth in 1864 during chaos. Our church was founded in the midst of a chaotic civil war. And though the first church building did not survive that year, the St. Luke's community held an unwavering faith of purpose and mission to rise from the ashes of war. Our current fourth church building, completed in July 1906, also had its beginning surrounded by the turbulence of the Atlanta race riot that fall. Our former rector, the Rev. Cary Wilmer, made a bold move to meet with the brilliant educator and Black leader, W.E.B. Dubois, to calm racial tensions "and establish an atmosphere of greater tolerance."

In our current context, the experience of transition and pandemic combined has stretched our community of St. Luke's to expand in new and profound ways: from the drive-thru Christmas pageant, drive-in Christmas Eve service, and check-in calls to parishioners, to renewing our relationship with the community of Ebenezer and forging new ones with interfaith leaders. St. Luke's has continued to be a vibrant, active presence in the city of Atlanta even while the pandemic had us physically apart from one another.

We are now emerging out of chaos marked by grief and pain into a beautiful unknown. The Holy Spirit is already at work knitting us together anew to celebrate and forge a new path with our rector, the Rev. Winnie Varghese. The heart of who we are as a community remains. We are a community that is committed to following Christ. We are a people committed to justice. And we reflect God's love through not just our words but through our actions.

Becca Stevens to speak at Annual Parish Retreat

Becca Stevens is a speaker, social entrepreneur, author, priest, founder, and President of Thistle Farms. As an entrepreneurial leader, she has established 10 justice initiatives and has raised over $55M in funding. Stevens leads important conversations across the country through speaking, advocating, preaching and writing. She walks the line between pragmatism and poetry in her message that love is the strongest force for change in the world.

Stevens founded Thistle Farms in 1997 with a single home for survivors of trafficking and addiction. Almost twenty-five years later, it is a global movement for women's freedom. Today the Nashville flagship includes a residential program that serves as a national model for women's recovery, and three justice social enterprises that provide jobs to survivors—amounting to $4M in earned income last year. Stevens also developed the Thistle National Network to provide tools, workshops, and conferences to support young organizations wanting to follow its holistic model of recovery, as well as Thistle Farms Global Shared Trade, which supports 1,400 artisan survivors in 22 countries.

Additional enterprises Stevens has helped establish include the Center for Contemplative Justice and Larkspur Conservation in the U.S., as well as Escuela Ann Stevens and Sibimbe in Ecuador, Moringa Madres in Mexico, and Love Welcomes in Greece.

Stevens has been profiled by numerous media outlets and her many awards include CNN Hero, White House Champion of Change, and Humanitarian of the Year by the Small Business Council of America. Becca attended the University of the South and Vanderbilt Divinity School, receiving alumnae distinction awards from both. Stevens has also been conferred multiple honorary doctorates.

Stevens speaks to a broad range of non-profit, religious, and business audiences—often in bare feet to show solidarity with those she serves. Drawn from 25 years of leadership in mission-driven work, the courageous stories of women survivors, and wisdom from nature and healing traditions, Stevens inspires and motivates audiences everywhere with practical and loving steps to inspire change in individuals and communities. Her next book, "Practically Divine" will be published by Harper Horizon this month.

VESTRY HONORS COLEMAN BUDD FOR HIS COMMITMENT TO ST. LUKE'S

In the early 1990s, when St. Luke's found itself in a challenging interim period, lifelong member Coleman Budd stepped forward. As Senior Warden, he was effectively in charge. He couldn't have taken that responsibility more seriously. Having recently retired from business, he moved into an office at St. Luke's for about a year and ran the church. During this time, he was affectionately known as "Bishop Budd."

His presence, steadfast leadership and countless hours of work during that critical period brought stability, inspiration and growth to our parish. Yet, it was just one of many times when Coleman dedicated his time and talents to his beloved church. Coleman, who is now in his 90s, for decades has been one of the most faithful and active members of St. Luke's, having served on numerous vestries, search committees and terms as both Senior Warden and Junior Warden. He changed our campus forever when he led the effort to quickly raise the money to buy the Browne Decorating Co., which was on the land that is now our beautiful Memorial Garden. St. Luke's had been trying to buy the property for decades, and when the opportunity finally arose, the window to act with short. Coleman made sure it happened.

Once again, Coleman had dropped everything to make sure St. Luke's would continue to grow, thrive and carry out its mission at an important moment.

In recognition of his remarkable life of service to St. Luke's, the Vestry in January unanimously voted to show its appreciation by renaming our gathering spot the Coleman Budd Parish Hall. Thanks be to God for Coleman's continued presence among us, his deep faith and his decades of inspiring leadership!

Carrie Teegardin, Junior Warden

While the Vestry renamed the Parish Hall, the Property Committee has been hard at work in recent months sprucing up and reimagining some areas of our beautiful campus. Come and see the updates to the interiors of the St. Luke Room, the restrooms adjacent to the St. Luke Room, and the Coleman Budd Parish Hall. A new focus on our history is also coming to the Glenn Gallery. Along with a fresh coat of paint, new décor in the parish hall will reflect the themes of celebration, renewal, joy, resilience and growth. It's a work in progress, and we're so excited for the opportunity to gather again in person to carry out these themes. Thank you to the Parish Hall Study Committee and the Property Committee for its hard work in recent months.

This is not intended to be a permanent change - but we're taking things one step at a time out of concern and love for each of us!

Associate Organist to begin this month

St. Luke's is delighted to announce the appointment of Herbert 'Herb' Buffington as Associate Organist and Artist-in-Residence at St. Luke's, starting September 12.

Herb comes to St. Luke's following a 25-year tenure as organist at Peachtree Christian Church. A native of Atlanta, he received early musical training as a chorister in the Men and Boys choir at the Cathedral of St. Philip, where he also held the position of Cathedral Sub-Organist for several years before entering undergraduate school. He holds degrees from Duke University and the Peabody Conservatory of Music. He also studied abroad at the Vienna International Music Center and the Hochschule für Musik in Vienna, Austria. He maintains an active solo recital schedule and has appeared in concert at Washington National Cathedral, The Kauffman Center for the Performing Arts in Kansas City, the Cathedral of St. Philip, Bates Recital Hall at The University of Texas at Austin, National City Christian Church in Washington, D.C., the Peabody Conservatory of Music, and Duke University Chapel. A widely respected musician, he has won national awards for organ improvisation and frequently serves on the faculties of church music conferences and improvisation seminars across the country.

Herb and Director of Music Matt Brown will share conducting and service playing responsibilities, including weddings and funerals. "Herb will also be a tremendous asset in helping us grow and develop our new Music at St. Luke's series," Matt says.

FAN To ADDRESS GUN VIOLENCE

St. Luke's, The Temple, and Ebenezer Baptist Church lament the horrific injury that gun violence has visited upon Atlanta. Join us to learn how we can take positive steps to make our families and our communities safer, followed by a memorial for the victims.

The events begin October 21 with a keynote by Dr. Mark Rosenberg, president emeritus of The Task Force for Global Health, founding director of CDC's National Center for Injury Prevention and Control, and former assistant surgeon general. It will be followed by a forum with the Atlanta mayoral candidates moderated by Kevin Riley of the AJC, and Rose Scott from WABE.

Rosenberg will address how taking a scientific approach to gun violence "can guide our efforts to reduce shootings and create safer homes, streets, schools and safer communities for everyone, regardless of race or ethnicity," as the editorial he co-authored in the AJC noted. Scott and Riley, the moderators, will then lead the candidates through a discussion of their plans to address the terrible blight that gun violence has caused in our community.

Then on Wednesday, October 27 we will gather to mourn the terrible harm that gun violence has brought upon its victims, families, perpetrators, and communities. We will recognize the 17 innocent congregants killed or injured on October 27, 2018, at the Tree of Life Synagogue, the 777 Georgians who died in 2020 (including 157 homicides in Atlanta), and the 542 Georgians who have already died in 2021 by guns.

Our churches are the perfect setting for this event—communities of faith have been behind the most important movements to improve the lives of our citizens, so it is natural that The Temple, Ebenezer, and St. Luke's would host these events. Both will be held at St. Luke's on Oct. 21 and Oct. 27 at 5:00 p.m. We invite the entire beloved community of Atlanta to join us either in person or virtually. Please register online at StLukesAtlanta.org/registration-and-sign-ups/ so we know how many to expect for each gathering.

Feel free to share this with anyone you think may be interested.

In respect for our Jewish sisters and brothers who will be observing Rosh Hashanah, we are moving the Interfaith Prayer Vigil to the Thursday after the first Monday. Join us for on Thursday, September 9 at 6 p.m. The Reverend Joanna Adams and her colleagues from the Presbyterian Church (USA) have offered to host the September gathering. The vigils are offered on a monthly schedule and leadership rotates among the interfaith community. All are welcome to join our gathering on Zoom.

The vigil will return to its first Monday of the month schedule in October.

On September 9, you can access the Zoom gathering from the St. Luke's website:
